2. For what were the Bereans commended?

“These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and _____ the Scriptures _____, whether those things were so.” Acts 17:11—p. _____*

NOTE: If God’s Word were studied as it should be, men and women would have a breadth of mind, a nobility of character, and a stability of purpose that are rarely seen in these times. But there is little benefit derived from a hasty reading of the Scriptures. One may read the whole Bible through, and yet fail to see its beauty or comprehend its deep and hidden meaning. One passage studied until its significance is clear to the mind and its relation to the plan of salvation is evident, is of more value than the perusal of many chapters with no definite purpose in view, and no positive instruction gained.

5. What writings are specifically mentioned as containing some things difficult to understand?

NOTE: Some scriptures are too plain to be misunderstood, while the meaning of others cannot so readily be discerned. To obtain a comprehensive knowledge of any Bible truth, scripture must be compared with scripture, and there should be “careful research and prayerful reflection.” But all such study will be richly rewarded.

The union of the divine and the human in the manifestation of God's thought in the flesh is declared to be "the mystery of godliness" (1 Timothy 3:16—p.____*), and there is the same mystery in the union of the divine thought and human language. Those who fail to find Christ thus in the Scriptures will not be able to feed upon the Word as the life-giving Word.
